

CV Martin Grzebellus

Martin Grzebellus is today managing director of NavCert GmbH. Martin born in Germany, has broad experience in telecommunication. After his study of computer science he developed communication protocols and was responsible for certification on a worldwide base. He participated in national and international standardization bodies. Martin held various management positions and was mainly responsible for international business. NavCert as part of the TÜV SÜD group contributes to the overall revenues of € 1.3 bn generated in 07 in 600 locations worldwide with more than 13,000 employees. TÜV provides as one of the world leading service organizations certification, testing, consulting and training. NavCert is dedicated to certification and testing only in the area of navigation and positioning. Martin reports directly to the CEO of the TÜV SÜD group.

