

Biography

Junji FUKUTO, Dr. Eng.

Researcher

Dr. FUKUTO is a graduate of Graduate School of Engineering of Hiroshima University with an M.S.E. in Naval Architecture. He also got his doctorate in Engineering in 2001 from the same University. He is working for National Maritime Research Institute, JAPAN from 1986. He is now a head of Navigation System Research Group and a manager of Ship Handling Simulator Facility of NMRI.

His experience has covered from navigation systems to human interface. Now he engages in R&D of advanced navigation support systems and its evaluation in operational safety by using simulator as a senior researcher. In his position, he became a associate professor of Tokyo University of Marine Science and Technology in 2004.

