

This DVD contains a copy of the final programme of the NAV08/ILA37 Conference & Exhibition.

Where made available by the authors and a signed Data Release Form or its equivalent has been received, copies of their presentations, papers and posters presented at the Conference are also included, together with their biographies and those of their co-authors, mainly in PDF format. Where possible, the video clips associated with a particular presentation have been embedded in the PDF.

To easily access a presenter's bio, paper, presentation, poster or biography, open the DVD Contents PDF. Links have been provided to the relevant Session documents, as follows:

- To a biography- where a presenter's name is underlined
- To a presentation/poster, where the title of the presentation/poster is underlined and
- To a paper where the symbol , appears alongside the presentation title.

So just click on the relevant name/presentation title or symbol to access the document.

To access the photographs, please go to the relevant folder on the DVD and select the relevant sub-folder.

Also included are the Conference Video, Delegate List and a Glossary of Terms and Abbreviations used in Navigation, which has been recently updated and includes many of those used by the presenters in their papers/presentations. Again, just click on the relevant title to access the relevant material.

Copyright of the DVD lies with the Royal Institute of Navigation (RIN) and the International Loran Association (ILA). Copying of the DVD and/ or any of its content, except as expressly provided below, is not permitted and anyone doing so is in breach not only of the RIN/ILA copyright but also of the copyright limitations that have been placed on us by some of the presenters and/or 3rd party organisations' and authorities' material that is contained in the PDFs of the presenter's material.

There are no copyright issues associated with the video and any of the photographs taken during the Conference included on this DVD. Our sincere thanks to Computer Graphics Training, who recorded and processed the video and took the vast majority of the photographs both in Session A and in the Exhibition Area and of Church House itself, which are contained on this DVD.
